Cooking School Closes Friday—Lecture Begins 3 P. M. in Village Hall — Prize Distribution

Miss Ruth Richardson gives personal lectures and demonstrations — World's Fair tickets and $50 stove credit are grand prizes—Many bags of groceries to be given — School attendance increases — Last week's prize winners.

Friday will be the final session of the Advertiser-Sentinel cooking school being conducted by Miss Ruth Richardson of the Spry Research Kitchens in the Addison Village Hall. Last Friday afternoon a crowd of nearly 200 women attended the school which was devoted to "quick" recipes for luncheons, dinners and "snacks".

This Friday at 3 P. M. will be the grand drawing for the World's Fair tickets of 1940 and for the $50 credit on a Tappan range offered by Ward Williams of Corning, whose stove is being used during the school sessions.

The World's Fair of 1940 books of tickets, of which there will be two, contain two free admission tickets. two tickets to the American Jubilee, a grand spectacle with 3,500 in the cast including outstanding radio and theatre artists, two tickets to the dancing campus, two tickets to gay New Orleans, two tickets to Winter Wonderland, two tickets to the Perisphere, theme center of the entire fair, two tickets to Gardens on Parade, a fairyland of beauty and gardening, two tickets to Mrs. Thorne's miniature rooms, wonderful rooms the size of an orange crate complete in every detail and in several periods, two tickets to the Town of Tomorrow, to see 26 modern homes equipped for every income level; two tickets for Nature's Mistakes, two tickets for the crimson tower, two tickets for the Auto Dodgem, thrills and spills in modern cars, two free tickets to Frank Buck's Jungleland and Monkey Island, two tickets to Hidden Tibet, showing the wonders of that little known land recently in the public print because of the selection of the new dlai lama. two tickets to Midget Town to see over 60 midgets in a city built their size, two tickets to the Live Monster Show, two tickets to the Glass Blowers of the World and two free parking tickets on fair grounds. The books are transferable. Attention is called to the fact that the fair closes forever October 27, 1940.

In addition there will be 12 baskets of groceries donated by manufacturers, merchants and local companies.

The school this week will be devoted to the making of spice cake pastry mix, tart shells and patties and other goodies. Miss Richardson is an able and capable demonstrator, home economist and lecturer. In addition, at the close of each school she donates the items made to the members of the audience and answers questions. She

Propose Lighting North Main Street—Village to Collect Back Taxes

Village Board session Monday hears proposal for new boulevard lighting north of tracks and for new bridge — Plans to sue those owing taxes — Miss Darrin asks for flood repairs.

Six 400-watt lights from Wombough street to Front street were proposed to Village Fathers in official session Monday night to increase the Main street lighting at the north end of the street and on the square north of the Erie tracks. The cost of the additional lights will be $280 per year according to Kenneth Grover, lighting engineer for the New York State Gas & Electric Co. He brought a map of the area showing the proposed location of the new lights. These can be changed. Ray Tormey, also of the utility company, was present at the meeting in the village hall.

The ornamental lights at the south end of the bridge will be moved, three lamps 100 feet apart will be placed. Each lamp will cost $43.70 per year to operate, the additional cost to make $280 being a service charge. There will be two lamps at either end of the bridge, two lamps just north of the railroad and a lamp where the highway marker in the center of the square is now located and a lamp on the east side of the street opposite the Baptist Church. Only six of these will be new.

Members of the Board will meet with utility representatives again before coming to a decision.

Mayor Sisto asked Mr. Tormey if the globes on Main street could be cleaned as he had received complaints relative to their condition. Mr. Tormey agreed to have the work done within a day or so.

Flood Control

Miss Katharine Darrin asked the Board members to increase the size of the sewer pipe under the road in front of her property to clear off flood waters and to repair the Jones hill road and gutters to properly carry off hill water, which twice flooded her cellar. She stated if the work is not done the Board will be held responsible for damage. Mayor Sisto and the trustees agreed the work should be done and will have the work undertaken soon. Miss Darrin thanked the Board members for the work done by the village truck in carting away dirt from the last flood which damaged her property.

A new nozzle for the fire truck hose will be purchased at a cost of $17. The nozzle will be purchased from the American LaFrance Co.

To Collect Taxes

Back taxes were discussed and it was agreed to place the collection of taxes in the hands of the village attorney and if no action can be secured to sell the properties for taxes before the state demands such action. There are between $700 and $800 in back taxes owed the village. In cases of Old Age Pensioners the county will be asked to pay the taxes on properties taken

Dr. Miles Kelly Receives Promotion

News of interest to Addison friends is the appointment of Dr. Miles Kelly as chief of medical service at the military hospital at Fort Devins, Mass. The appointment came as a distinct surprise to Dr. Kelly who had been on the hospital staff but a month. Residents of Addison, Dr. Kelly's "old home town" extend congratulations on his advancement.

DR. MILES KILLY

Lois McKay Married Sat.

Miss Lois McKay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McKay, Elmira, former residents of Addison, was married Saturday, September 7, 1940 in Rochester. The groom is George H. Griff, Jr., also of Elmira. A cousin of the bride, Miss Alice Makely, was maid of honor.

Miss McKay attended Addison High School until her junior year when she went to Elmira, where she graduated from high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Griff will live in Elmira where both are employed.

Addisonites Injured in Avoca Crash Friday

Mrs. Ruth Gillespie was seriously injured and Nathan House received minor injuries in a motor car crash Friday night at Avoca. Three cars were involved in the accident Leland Brewster, 19, was fined $15 for driving without a license as the result of the crash.

Mr. House returned to his home Monday. He has a scalp laceration and knee injuries. Mrs. Gillespie sustained internal injuries and was confined in Bath Memorial Hospital until Sunday. Shock and body bruises were received by her. She will be confined to her home for several days.

Miss Janet Taylor Enters Oberlin College

Miss Janet Taylor entertained several friends at a tea at her home on Church street Thursday afternoon. The affair was in the nature of a farewell party since Miss Taylor left yesterday (Wednesday) for Oberlin, Ohio where she will pursue a course in music at Oberlin College. Miss Taylor, an accomplished musician, has been very generous with her time and talent, serving as Ad Club pianist, organist at the Church of the Redeemer and often appearing on local program.

Guests at the tea Thursday were: the Misses Ellen Knebel, Onolee Little, Geraldine Pepper, Maude Ingersoll, Gayle Mapes, Onalee Hunt, Jean Ripley, Mary Whitmore, Barbara Whitmore, Janet Whitmore and Betty Perry who poured.

Retires After Thirty-six Years of Teaching

Fred C. Hooker of Flushing, L. I., has been spending several days in town visiting old friends and looking after the Hooker property here. Mr. Hooker has recently retired after teaching for thirty-six years in the New York City school system. During that time he spent fourteen year in one school and twenty-one years in another. The subjects he taught were manual training, shopwork, physical training and general science.

Mr. Hooker spent his youth in Addison, graduating from the Addison High School. After teaching a district school he attended and graduated from the Oneonta Normal School. He then went to New York City where he graduated from New York University. He worked as a bookkeeper for four years before beginning his teaching career.

Since retirement Mr. Hooker spends his winters in DeLand, Florida and his summers in Flushing, but never fails to make a short visit each year to the old home town.

Stiker Describes Army Maneuvers At Ad Club

Dr. Amos G. Stiker, Captain in the National Guard at the summer army maneuvers in the north told of his experiences before the members of the Advertising Club at the initial meeting of the new fall season Wednesday noon . The dinner meeting was held in the Baptist Church.

President Milton Crane presided at the dinner. He thanked the members of the summer picnic committee for their work in making that affair a success. Irving R. Gladstone will be in charge of the next meeting, Thursday night, September 28.

Dr. Stiker spoke in part as follows: "Relative to the major problems of the army maneuvers you probably know more than I, for you had the radio and your newspapers. All we knew was that information concerning our immediate command.

"Wars are won on delays. Train schedules were disrupted which in turn threw later schedules off There were few train lines in the semi-desert area in which we were located. In fact ,the transportation problem hounded officers throughout the tour. Regulations called for our regiment to have 60 trucks. We had eight."

Captain Stiker then described the cooking facilities in the field and the provisions for caring for food in ice boxes built in holes in the ground. The problem of cleanliness was his main duty throughout the maneuvers. He said, "It is a problem to get men clean and to keep them clean. And the health problem is involved with cleanliness. Daily inspection prevents disease. Individual health is a personal problem but the health of the group is based on the efficiency of the regiment. Much disease is preventable and our Medical department must keep your sons and friends healthy. One day's fighting means 20 per cent casualties. In our department resourcefulness, adaptability and ability are praised and there is no criticism from superior officers when reasonable mistakes in judgment are made.

"Officers of the National Guard are not adequately trained. They are not working in their chosen professions. They did do a better job than last year. I hope if America does get into war our years of training will help put us on the winning side." Dr. Stiker was given a rising vote of thanks for his talk. He injected much humor in his description of some of the happenings at the camp.

Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

The War —

Intensified Nazi raids over the London area Saturday and Sunday took nearly 600 lives and injured more than 3,000 persons as Marshal Goering attempted to drive the British air force out of the skies. Much material damage has been done to docks and shipping in the big city, but British morale is holding firm.

Evidently submitting to pressure of popular opinion the British RAF turned some of their attention away from blows at factories to give Berlin a taste of what London has endured. Severe bombings were visited upon the center of Berlin, hits being registered on the Reichstagg and other government buildings. Much damage was apparently done to the beautiful street Unter den Linden. Nazi officials howled threats of thousandfold reprisals for blows struck in retaliation for their own indescriminate bombings.

One effect of the renewed mass attack on Britain has been greater plane casualties by the Nazis. Neutral observers claim in mass attacks the British are able to shoot down 15 out of every 100 attackers. The ratio of Nazi to British air loss is two or three to one, while the loss in material damage is three times as high as most of the German planes shot down are the expensive bombers. British losses are nearly all cheaper fighter planes. Desperation is said to be the chief reason Hitler is willing to lose many planes for a quick victory.

Hamburg and other German coast cities endured devastating raids by the RAF Sunday and Monday nights as the British struck at military objectives in the Reich. Berlin has also been visited by bombers practically every night for more than a week.

Temporary Bridge Nears Completion

Construction work on the temporary bridge over the Canisteo is progressing to the point where it is expected the structure will be in use, work of tearing down the old Mai nstreet bridge will begin. Main street bridge will begin. the progress of the bridge and the methods used for driving the piles, placing the 40 foot iron girders and preparing the local streets to receive an increased traffic load .

Work of grading Wall street has been nearly completed and it is expected the blacktopping will be placed over the earth fill some time during the next few days. Fill is also being put on Wombough street and the old pavement is being torn apart by a sacrificer on the town roller to prepare the way for putting a new blacktop dressing on that. And the dressing or topping will have to be thick enough to stand the weight of the huge trucks and tankers which will use the street .

The steel girders for the spans of the temporary bridge arrived Sunday morning and were taken from the extra long gondola cars by the E. W. Foley Inc., equipment. Monday the workers started putting the huge girders in place on the wooden piles out in the river. All the girders will be laid before the end of the week .

More local men are being employed on the project each week.

ADDISON GRANGE TO MEET

A Past Masters' program will be a feature of the meeting of Addison Grange to be held Friday evening in the Grange Hall. All members are urged to make a special effort to attend the meeting that will convene at 8:45 D. S. T.

Knox Would Further Fortify Guam

In the second fastest flight between the United States and Hawaii Navy Secretary Knox reached Pearl Harbor in 14 hours and 17 minutes last Friday. This dawn-to-dusk trip was made over a flight route on which were stationed seven destroyers and several other vessels as a "precautionary measure," according to naval officials.

The purpose of the Secretary's trip is to observe the maneuvers of the Pacific fleet, and to inspect naval bases in the islands. Secretary Knox on arriving at Pearl Harbor said that he favors the immediate and extensive fortification of the Island of Guam, the closest American possession to the Philippines, as a vital part of the defense program. The Secretary refused any elaboration of his statement when asked if the expansion of Guam fortifications was favored because of possible foreign encroachment in the South Asiatic waters. The Japanese government, recently announced that any further fortification of Guam would be considered "an unfriendly act."

Assemblywoman Edith Cheney Is Civic Society Speaker

Tells of Albany legislative experiences—points way for politics as career — Outlines procedures — Scouts take part in meeting—High school students guests.

The teaching of character, responsibility, and citizenship are national virtues which can well be taught in Civic Societies, Assemblywoman Mrs. Edith Cheney told members of the Addison Women's Civic Society Wednesday afternoon in the Public Library. Mrs. Cheney spoke at the regular monthly meeting which opens the winter's series of meetings. Miss Katharine Darrin, president was in charge of the meeting. The Civic Committee composed of Mrs. Horace Auringer and Mrs. Harry Mullen were hostesses to the speaker. High school civics and history students were guests of the club .

Assemblywoman speaks at first Civic Society meeting of new year Wednesday

MRS. EDITH CHENEY

Mrs. Cheney prefaced her talk on her Albany experiences by telling of the increased activity of women in politics, local ,state and national and in county and state and national committees. She stated that their interest in politics led to improvement in social legislation.

She advocated young people getting into politics to get experience for statesmanship. She said in part: "Statesmanship and politics are careers and the business of government is a career." Men in legislative groups are sincere, honest and trying to do their best. They are not as much playboys as you are led to believe. However, at the close of hard and long sessions they do throw bills in the air to show their pleasure at the conclusion of their work.

"The first two or three weeks seem boring but much preliminary work is being done. Attorneys on committees put in the 'whereas' and 'wherefores' which are there to confuse us I really believe.

"The longer you are in the legislature the better choice of seats you have. Asemblywoman Jane Todd and Assemblyman William Stuart were of invaluable help to me.

"The last part of the session is the important. "She described the methods of introducing bills and the first two readings and continued,"

Dr. A. G. Stiker Not Called For Federal Service

Dr. Amos G. Stiker, Captain in the 134th Medical Regiment and local dentist, will not leave for Federal service for several months and according to present plans, his unit may never be called.

Dr. Stiker was at De Kalb Junction for the month of August during army maneuvers and the rumors that the Corning company, of which he is a member, is to be mustered into Federal service for training in the south came as a result of orders issued at the encampment.

Dr. Stiker states that the new unit, the 134th, is now being formed and with the idea in mind that the recruits will be untrained, Dr. Stiker states there is a possibility that the company will not be called. The unit will be an Army, rather than a regimental unit and if and when called will be located behind the lines for base hospital work.

Baptist Cafeteria Supper Is sold Out By Women

The Women of the Baptist Church sponsored a cafeteria supper Saturday night. The affair was so popular that all the food was sold and the cooks, waitresses and others working at the supper had to eat rolls and coffee for these items were all that were left of a big and varied menu. The women realized over $22 on the supper, the first cafeteria supper of the current season. The money will be used for church purposes.

METHODIST LADIES TO SERVE ROAST PORK SUPPER

Members of the Methodist Ladies Aid Society, headed by Mrs. Walter Perkins, president, will serve a roast pork supper to the public Saturday evening. Serving will begin at 5:30 and continue until all are served. The proceeds of this supper will apply on the amount pledged for church support by the Society.

Fish and Game Club Outing Success in Spite of Weather

Conservation club realizes good sum for efforts—Warden Tompkins exhibits trained hawks — Record shooting at skeet—Fred Thomas gives exhibition and offers novices aid — New "targo" miniature trap introduced.

Fish and Game Club members realized over $150 on their ninth annual field day and outing at McCarthy field Sunday. This in spite of the fact there were fewer attended than any previous year owing to inclement weather thruout the day.

George Willey, 83, Dansville, won high honors for the skeet meet in breaking 50 straight and then broke 97 of 100 birds for high honors for the day. He was awarded a turkey. Ross Warren of Elkland won high trap shooting by breaking 49 of 50 targets.

The new miniature trap was introduced for the first time in this vicinity with Edwin Cook, Addison, breaking 35 of 36 targets. In addition several vied on the rifle shooting range for turkeys, chickens and ducks.

A special award was made to Chester Arnett of Addison.

Coon Chases

Several well known dog men attended the meet to enter dogs in the fox and coon chases. Several of the chases were rained off during the day and only one fox chase and two coon chases were held. In the fox chase the first line dog was "Spike" owned by Mr. Frocchi and second line dog was "Sport" owned by L. R. Close of Pennsylvania.

The first line and first tree dog in the first coon chase was "Sox" owned by William Haynes of Cuylerville, N. Y. and second line and second tree dog was "Speed" owned by Reo Bates of Campbell. The first line and first tree dog in the second chase was "Mike" owned by Fred Jones of Cuylerville and second line and second tree for the second time was "Speed" owned by Mr. Bates.

Falconry

The training of red-tailed hawks was demonstrated by Game Warden Lawrence Tompkins of Hammondsport, assisted by two Boy Scouts. He had three birds with him. They were on display throughout the day until the exhibition in the afternoon. Mr. Tompkins pointed out that the birds have never been vicious and make excellent pets in addition to being very clean. Leather gloves are worn because of the claws, not because of danger from the birds disposition. He demonstrated the ancient art of falconry.

Another feature of the day's program was the work of Fred Thomas, shooting expert of Elmira. He assisted several novices in the various shooting ranks as well as made minor repairs to local trap and skeet equipment.

The new "Targo" is an arrangement whereby the trap throw is fastened to the guns. There was one on a 410 gauge gun and also one on a 22 smooth bore rifle shooting shot shells.

There were over 1,000 on the grounds during the day. Children were given balloons and candy. New games were introduced for the first time.

Members of the organization appreciate the cooperation of the merchants of Addison and vicinity who made possible the success of the field day, to the women, nonmembers of the club, who assisted in various ways.

Committees

The committees on the field meet were: Skeet and trap, Llewellyn

BASES FOR WAR DEBTS

If the Administration will follow through, now that the opening wedge has found its mark, the United States should be able to wrangle out a way whereby old indebtedness of the foreign countries could be satisfied.

Outright trades should be negotiated, instead of long-time leases, which are bound to run their limits. If what is left of France has any concern for the future, strategic bases of French possessions should be monopolized by the United States and turned into fortresses. These, in turn, would reflect to the everlasting credit of France in her desire to live unshackled, and would subscribe to her long and honorable career. We can't help but feel that some day honest Frenchmen will come back to their own, and upon her lands must be erected those fortifications that will forever keep Democracy alive.

CAPITAL RESERVOIRS OVERFLOWING

The normal credit sources of this country are in a position to meet all or nearly all of the heavy demands that will be caused by industrial expansion for the production of materials needed in the defense program, in the expert opinion of Emmett F. Connely, President of the Investment Bankers Association of America.

"The reservoirs of the capital markets are filled to overflowing", he said. "I have checked the important industries—aviation, machine tool, automotive, metallurgical — involved in the defense program, and there appears to be little or no need for government financial assistance. On the contrary, these industries are in a position to raise, through regular banking channels, what capital they may require for expansion."

That's good news, and it is to be hoped that the government abides by it. Every nickel of private capital that can be obtained for defense purposes means that a nickel less of public capital—taxes—will be needed. And it means that a nickel less will be added to the soaring national debt.

It should be eternally kept in mind that a sound and orderly fiscal policy to control defense spending is as vital to the future of the country as the actual production of airplanes and warships and other arms. It is bad enough to have to start rearmament under the burden of a $45,000,000,000 national debt. It will be infinitely worse if we go ahead and spend with reckless prodigality.

Government should assist industry with funds only when and if it is definitely proven that private credit facilities—the commercial bankers, the investment bankers and other sources—are unable to meet the demand. Every private resource should be employed first. Unless that is done, national insolvency may prove as much of a danger to our existence as the threat of aggression by an armed foe.

LOYALTY COMES FIRST

Today the American people are in no mood to countenance disloyalty of any kind—no matter whert it may be. Loyalty must be unqualified from those in high places and in low.

A short time ago one of the nation's leading newspapers investigated the business activities of a commercial agent of the German government in this country. This agent had rented a local home under an assumed name to negotiate deals of all kinds with some American business men. Great secrecy surrounded the transactions. Much of what actually occurred it still shrouded in mystery, but enough has been disclosed to shock the country. A few business men apparently worked on the principle that nothing counted save profits. This is on a par with labor leaders who would call a strike to further their own ends, regardless of its effect on our defense program.

One of the business men involved has been discharged from his position by his company. It is time for both government and industry to work together to disclose any other machinations of this kind that may exist. The overwhelming majority of American business men are true patriots, but there are a few who are for sale—even as there are a small number of labor leaders and government officials who are for sale—and the country must be rid of them.

For some years the government has pursued a policy of fighting business. Wouldn't it be wiser for government to work with, not against industries—and, at the same time, help rid all industry of the Judases it contains? That is the only kind of policy that can secure total defense for America.

PARKING METERS

Corning merchants will doubtless be watching closely the public reaction to the Elmira parking meters which were placed in operation last week. A streamer headline in the Elmira evening paper gloated over the fact the first period's "take" from the meters was more than $321, which probably looked like easy money to the city officials.

The public, however, quite likely looked at the garnered nickels and pennies in quite another light. To them it added up to another tax on the already tax-ridden family budget. To out-of-town shoppers it may have hinted they could not buy anything in the business district of the city without paying every time they stopped their cars. While the amount is nominal for a single short stop, taken over the course of a year if anyone does regular shopping—and who does not—with a car the accumulated "tips" to the dummy collectors are bound to become burdensome.

Elmira is using the meters on a trial basis, and time alone will tell whether the public puts up enough howl so the city government will ever remove them. It is to be expected they will stay, for just try to organize enough public clamor to get any kind of a tax repealed. And after all parking meters are another way of drawing tax funds from Mr. John Q. Citizen, whatever the excuse given for installation of the devices.

LEADERSHIP VS. DICTATORSHIP

The country has accepted the results of the President's private agreement with Great Britain with a gratifying appreciation of the realities involved. Unless we are greatly mistaken, it has with equal realism resented and disapproved the highly dictatorial and un-American fashion in which the goals were achieved.

The fundamental issue involved has been brought into the sharpest focus by an eloquent editorial which appeared in "The St. Louis Post-Dispatch". This journal — of the staunchest democratic faith and ablest intelligence—found it necessary to use the strongest language to describe the methods of the President. What he did was done in "utmost contempt of the democratic processes and of the Constitution of the United States", it declared. Instead of asking Congress to ratify this agreement, he is "telling them that it has been ratified by him—America's dictator".

This is a grave indictment. But can there be any serious denial of its truth? The question is not so much of any particular item in the President's maneuver by which this dictatorial achievement was accomplished. It is of the spirit which it revealed.

The President of the United States possesses large powers under the Constitution when war arrives. He must possess them if the republic is to survive. But there are two ways in which he can exercise those powers. He can, like Lincoln, push them to the limit when the fate of the nation compels, all the while showing a devoted allegiance to the Constitution in every detail of l is acts and limiting the stretching of his powers to essentials. Or he can defy the Constitution at every turn. What was shocking about the President's deal was the fact that each of the two goals could have been achieved with clear legality at a much earlier date; and that the only point in uniting them in a dramatic and sensational step toward European involvement was a political one.

This newspaper has hesitated a long while to accept the view that Mr. Roosevelt was consciously or unconsciously endeavoring to lead this country into war. We have repeatedly expressed our admiration for the President's long-sighted vision of European problems. But we do not see how any impartial observer can longer doubt, first, the President's impulsive and emotional attitude toward the European scene, and second, his scorn of the Constitution's limitations upon his authority to express those impulses and emotions in acts leading to hostilities.

The picture that he paints of himself is, as "The Post-Dispatch" implies, that of a would-be dictator. So far from holding to the Constitution, like Lincoln, he displays a contempt of its limitations all too comparable to the acts of the European dictators. We pretend to no knowledge of his aims or ambitions. We speak only of his acts. And, supporting "The Post-Dispatch", we find it impossible not to see in those acts an utterly un-American defiance of Congress, scorn of the people of the United States, and disregard of the Constitution which he has sworn to uphold.

Had he the spirit of true leadership, his course would have been far different. He would have constantly taken the American people into his confidence. Instead of insulting the dictators of Europe, he would have shared his official information with his fellow citizens. He would have negotiated the purchase of bases months ago, by and with the full consent of Congress. He would have weeks ago sold the destroyers to Great Britain as part of the nation's settled policy of aiding the democracies in every manner short of war. Instead of which he postponed acting in either direction until a dramatic moment gave to the combined result the appearance of a sensational act of war.

We cannot agree that the results should be disowned by the nation. The hour is too fraught with peril to permit of delay. But we find it impossible to escape the conclusion that the Republic is not safe so long as such dictatorial methods are the fixed policy in the White House.

In American Business
— By John Craddock —

New York, Sept. 9— BUSINESS— Most important, down-to-earth business is that country's wholesale markets, after a long stretch of lethargy ,have suddenly picked up speed -- and prices. The continuing trend to better retail sales has begun to make serious inroads on shelves of retailers, and last week there was quite an epidemic of telegrams and special delivery letters as department stores and other merchandisers began finding their stocks getting too low. Most experts figure that this signalizes the end of a period of hand-to-mouth purchasing, and that merchants who have been holding their buyers in check because of war uncertainty may now loosen up on their inventory policies.

Chief buying movement was in cotton cloth, but woolen and worsted goods were in strong demand too. Textile operations for fall seem almost sure to be very good. With a large amount of woolen mills' current capacity being taken by varins government orders, some are even having to ask customers for a little extra time on deliveries.

WASHINGTON -- Housing, in the small-home brackets, continues at the unusually rapid pace set earlier in the summer. In August, applications for FHA insurance of mortgages on new small homes reached the third largest total in the agency's history—and were 45 per cent larger in number and 40 per cent more in amount than for August, 1939. Last month's operations brought total small home mortgages selected for appraisal by the FHA during its six years of operations to over the 1,000,000 mark. Average cost of the homes in this bracket is $4,400.

TRANSPORTATION READY — Should a war emergency suddenly confront the United States, the nation's transportation system could move an army of one million men, together with a year's supply of food, from coast to coast in ten days. So K. N. Merritt, general sales manager of Railway Express, told an audience at the New York World's Fair. To illustrate the enormity of this task, he explained that the population of a city the size of Baltimore or St. Louis is less than a million persons. The food requirements for a million armed men, as estimated by a food industry expert, would come to some 855,000 tons. Included are such sizeable items as 11,250,000 chickens 30,000,000 dozen eggs and 45,000,000 tons of onions. Actually, the job is not as taxing as it appears, Mr. Merritt declared, explaining that the railroads move more than that much freight in a single day.

BITS O' BUSINESS — Passenger traffic on domestic air lines in August hit a new all-time peak—for the sixth consecutive month . . . Nation's major carriers flew approximately 8 per cent more revenue passenger miles than in July, and 61 per cent more than in the same month of 1939 . . . . United States Steel faces a possible excess approximately $7,500,000, according to John L. Sullivan, assistant secretary of the treasury.... Chemical industry has plans for very greatly increasing the national output of nitrogen for use in high explosives ... Bureau of Agricultural Economics says that present indications point to a mandatory loan of 61 cents a bushel on corn this fall under the Agricultural Adjustment Act . . .Ground has been broken at Glenn L. Martin aircraft factory in Baltimore for an addition which would more than double bomber production—the plant is now turning out three large bombers a day.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR — A very neat lipstick-and-powder compact for milady, with likeness of her favorite Presidential candidate for decoration . . . . A bomb-proof shelter — made in America, at Quincy, Mass., in fact. It's pyramid-shaped and steel plated, and will accomodate a family of six (come early and avoid the rush) . . A new milk bottle, five ounces lighter than the old style, one inch shorter, and with a gurgle-proof neck . . . And watch for a campaign for the restoration of bread-making as an American home art.

Pithy Paragraphs

Frank Scully, the author, who recently won in the primaries in his campaign for assemblyman in the Hollywood district, tells what is wrong with government. "Democracy rots at the bottom", he says, "long before it is sold out at the top. Therefore, our first line of defense is the lower legislative house."

Scratch a statesman—and you'll find a very much irritated politician.

Baseball lingo: F. D. R. says the people must prepare for sacrifices and he himself is willing to pinch-hit and run for third.

"British Raise Age Limit for War Fliers to 31", is a London item. Many a very young Briton will boast: "My old man can now join the R. A. F.!"

Foreign relations would be much simplified for the U. S., if there were no stuffed-shirtsleeve diplomacy.

A sucker is known by the money he keeps putting back into the slot machine.

Insult-swallowing note: With coffee gone, German officers in Paris are compelled to sip Lipton's tea.

SHOOTS SILVERTIP CHUCK

Mt. Morris—Harry Tharrat, Silver Lake sportsman, reported the shooting of a black woodchuck in a field near Castile. The animal's fur was slightly tipped with silver, otherwise the hair was jet black. Tharratt expects to have it mounted.

Out of 56,719 contributions between July 25 and September 5, reported to Washington by the United Republican Finance Committee, 96 percent, or 48,396, were for less than five dollars. These "assists" to the Willkie-McNary ticket in the State came from the Greater New York area, and are striking evidence of the popularity of the Republican presidential candidate, it is claimed by the committee.

LIVING WORDS Of Dead Americans

The ringing oratory of "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold" has obscured the rest of William Jennings Bryan's speech before the 1896 Democratic Convention. Did he foreshadow the New Deal when he defied his audience earlier in that same speech?

When you come before us and tell us that we are about to disturb your business interests we reply that you have disturbed our business interests by your course. We say to you that you have made the definition of a business man too limited in its application. The man who is employed for wages is as much a business man as his employer; the attorney of a country town is as much a business man as the corporation counsel in a great metropolis; the merchant of the cross road store is as much a business man as the merchant in New York; the farmer who goes forth in the morning and toils all day, who begins in the spring and toils all summer, and who, by the application of brain and muscle to the natural resources of the country creates wealth, is as much a business man as the man who goes upon the Board of Trade and sets the price of grain; the miners who go down 1000 feet into the earth or climb 2000 feet up a cliff and bring forth from their hiding places the precious metals to be poured into the channels of trade are as much business men as the financial magnates who in a backroom, corner the money of the world. We come to speak to this broader class of business men.

From "P. M."

There is a true story going the rounds about Bill Fish, Publisher of the Potter County Enterprise in Coudersport. It seems he went out to take some pictures with his camera and lost the camera. A few days later a woman brought the camera into the Enterprise office and advertised her find. The ad ran for three weeks. She was then told, the camera was hers. As Editor Fish lifted the camera from the enterprise safe, where it had been stored, his face reddened and he admitted it was his and proved ownership. Many laughs for many days for his friends.

Cruelty towards the underdog is part of the Hitler creed. A potential candidate for Addison's cruelest person is that one who put a poor little kitten under the hood of a motor car here Friday night. The driver of the car started the machine and drove it quite a ways before he could find where the pain cries of the kitten were coming from. Apparently the cylinders were causing the animal pain and it might have been cut to pieces in the fan.

There is some wonder about the community as to whether Sam Keck will use the five gallons of Amoco gas won by his daughter at the Advertiser-Sentinel cooking school Friday. The wonder comes because Sam is the district representative for the Kendall Oil Company. If he does use it, is he going to be kidded and if he don't use Ernest Fritz's offer, well he is going to be kidded anyway.

John Russ stopped me Saturday to wonder about the "grass growing in Main street story" in last week's paper. He then told me of a story current here many years ago about Vastbinder's cattle grazing in Main street. Mr. Vastbinder was former editor of the paper and is well known as a farmer and traveler.

The item which follows this was written in reference to Charlie Crane's elephants. It was written by FJG, and those initials remind me of the Fonda, Johnstown and Gloversville Railroad.

The Rambler:

I note in your interesting column of August 29th—

How is my good friend Charley making out in capturing elephants? He will need a large herd of Elephants and sour-grape Donkeys to help clean up the hub-bub after election, and may need a few to ship to the farms in Rushville, Indiana to help the former Donkey to gather up his pumpkins.

The biggest surprise came when the poor old GOP Elephant was forced to swallow a full grown four-year old ex-Donkey. No wonder it had a pain in its breadbasket.

Cheer up, for it makes no difference who is elected, there will be a Donkey in the White House, (at heart) — only a little different in color and ideas.

Just for fun and a little hot air—of which we all will hear a lot on both sides of the fence for the next few weeks.

That is all,

BIRCH WOOD BEST FOR NEW PLANES

The Dominion Forest Service, Ottawa, Canada, reports that yellow birch is the most suitable hardwood for the making of plywood used as coverings for wings and fuselages of aircraft. The extensive use of birch wood in this new field makes it one of the most valuable of the Canadian hardwoods.

It looks as tho the public library doors need painting pretty soon or the wood will be so rotten the paint will go right through it.

Above somewhere is the item about Sam Keck's daughter, Barbara, winning the five gallons of Amoco gas. Sam was a good scout about it, went and got the gas and paid the donor to fill the tank "all the ways". Nice going Sam!

Some people mention the fact "there is nothing doing in this town" but I wonder if they would say that if they could sit in the newspaper or telephone office and feel the pulse of the community flow along. Some days there are five and six events here all involving different groups. All must be reported.

I was interested in the Sears, Roebuck report of spending 11 millinon last year to do $400,000,000 in retail business. And the fact that the A & P spent over $1,000,000 in one territory alone for advertising. That seems to be the story of the growth of those businesses.

Patriotic Airs Call Hands to Work

The LaSalle Hat Company of Sunbury, Pa., has instituted an unusual tribute to America. Instead of blowing a factory whistle to start the day, amplifiers carry a three-minute record of "God Bless America" to inspire the workers to their daily work. At closing time, "The Star-Spangled Banner" comes over the air from the amplifiers.

Political Philatelic Perquisite

The item in last week's NEWS regarding the Ickes near stamp scandal brought inquiries as to the possible intrinsic value of these stamps on which Honest Harold has a corner.

According to Linn's Weekly Stamp News an article in the New-York Herald-Tribune reported the Postoffice Department said that the stamps which the Interior Secretary had "might be worth' $250,000, if Mr. Ickes wanted to sell them.

And the Washington Times-Herald, in its issue of August 11 quotes Mr. Ickes as making this statement regarding his sheets of the famous National Parks "Farley Follies:"

"As I recall, he said, I went down to the Bureau of Printing & Engraving with Farley and a number of others to see the first sheets of the national parks series come from the presses. I bought some of these sheets. Then I noticed that they were UNGUMMED AND IMPERFORATE. I asked the Postoffice Department if I could have my set gummed, and they said 'yes.' So I sent a check and the sheets over to the department the next day and the sheets were gummed and returned to me."

Some light on the quantity obtained by the Secretary is shed by his statement, "There were only 200 of each of these gummed imperforates issued and that though he had given some away, he still had in his possession "probably 150 of each denomination.

John L. Lewis is having labor trouble. Right in his own household. Lewis is balking on signing a contract with the clerical workers in the Washington office of Labor's Non-partisan League, which he dominates. He says a contract is unnecessary since his dealings with his employes are always fair, and they should not treat him like an ordinary boss.

The girls in the Non-partisan League offices are organized, well paid receiving $35 a week minimum and have no complaints regarding hours of working conditions. But as a matter of "principle" they want a formal agreement and see no reason why Lewis, who insists on contracts with employers should not give them one.

HITLER'S GRABS IGNORED BY ALIEN CENSUS

Alien Registration Administrator Harrison has issued directions permitting foreigners to ignore the conquests of Germany, Italy, Japan, and Russia in stating their nativity. This action was taken after hundreds of Poles and Czechs had expressed the fear that they must register as subjects of Germany or some other conquering nation.

Harrison also stated officially that Jewish refugees from Germany need not attach the prefix "Israel" or "Sarah" before their given and surnames, as they were required to do before leaving Germany. However, any foreigner who desires to do so, may give his citizenship as that of a nation which has taken over the land where he was born.

Great Actor Stars In American Jubilee

Ray Middleton, one of the stars in the great "American Jubilee" seen here as George Washington, is one of America's outstanding actors. In the American Jubilee, a national hit, he also portrays Abe Lincoln and the next President of the United States. Middleton really looks, as well as acts the role of "Honest Abe". He is 6 feet three inches tall. This superb outdoor World's Fair production has a cast of 350.

Corning Game Outing Sunday

Dogs owned by sportsmen in Corning, Hornell, Bath, Canisteo, Hammondsport, Avoca, Addison, Wayland, Cohocton, Prattsburg and Elmira, are among the entrants in the field trials of Corning Fish and Game Club's outing Sunday at the club farm on the Hornby road.

One of Steuben County's most colorful outings, the event is expected to draw over 5,000 people.

The shooting dog and derby events are slated for 1 p. m. and the beagle trials, to be run on liberated cottontails, will also start at 1 p. m.

The bird dog trials Sunday, open to all, will begin at 10 a. m. Fox and coon chases will start at the same time. There will be a dog auction.

There will be no entry fee for the fly and bait casting contests.

A band concert will be given by the Painted Post High School band and the program feature will be "Hiram and Maude". The "Maude" member of the team is an educated mule whose antics have been the hit of a number of fairs.

There will be a small-bore rifle shoot and trap and skeet shoots all day.

County Republicans Plan Stag Clambake Near Hornell Sunday

Hornell, Sept.—More than 280 tickets have been sold in the advance sale for one of the largest outings and clambake in Steuben County political annals, which will be staged at Demmon's Lake, near Howard Sunday, September 14. Leaders of the Hornell Men's Republican Club are sponsoring the affair.

Paul S. Kerr, general chairman, basing his predictions on the sale already made and the fact that an additional 300 are in the hands of men throughout the county, believes between 750 and 1,000 men will attend. Congressman James E. VanZandt of Altoona, Pa., will be the principal speaker.

A program of wide variety has been planned for the outing, scheduled to begin at 12:30 o'clock with a luncheon. Hornell's City Judge, James G. Austin will be the presiding officer over the rally program. Other speakers to be featured are Congressman W. Sterling Cole of Bath, and State Senator Earl S. Warner of Phelps and Assemblyman William M. Stuart, Canisteo.

Congressman VanZandt, a past national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a former railroad employee, will talk on a subject relating to past legislation affecting veterans and railroad men. He also will discuss aspects on the political horizon, as they concern the candidacies for the presidency.

Mr. Kerr said that the Hornell Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars also was planning to entertain Congressman VanZandt at the Post rooms on Canisteo street, before the clambake.

Alderman Frank E. Wolfanger of Hornell said to be a past master of culinary art is in charge of preparing the food. The dinner is planned to start serving shortly after 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Little neck clams feature the luncheon, while fried spring chicken is the mainstay of the dinner.

The Sports Committee has arranged a baseball game to be played between a team from the Erie Shops, headed by Kenneth Moore, Hornell, and another team under Leo Kruze, Arkport. District Attorney George King, of Corning has consented to umpire, while County Judge Edwin Brown, Cohocton, will perform the functions of a "Judge Landis". Other games also will be played.

Portugese Surgeon Says War to Spread

Should the "Battle of Britain" continue two weeks more, it will likely be dwarfed by the severity of hostilities in the Mediterranean, according to Dr. Jacques Nahm, famed plastic surgeon of Lisbon, Portugal, now visiting in Buffalo.

Dr. Nahm is in America gathering material for a planned technical book on plastic surgery. He has conferred with many of America's leading plastic surgeons, attended a surgeons' convention at St. Louis observed the facilities at Johns Hopkins University, and from Buffalo goes to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minnesota.

"If Britain can hold out another two weeks, the island fortress may find its enemies ignoring it in favor of the more serious threats in the Mediterranean", said Dr. Nahm.

Let's All Go to The County Fair

They say the county fair is on its way out. They say the county fair is experiencing a great renaissance. One can, in fact, hear almost anything said about the county fair.

Well, whatever the present or the future of the county fair may be, we wouldn't know. We only know there's something about a big squash with a blue ticket around its neck that we like.

So, with countless others, we'll likely hie ourselves to Bath some time this week and see first-hand the achievements of 1940. We will hob-nob with the elite of the harness world; we will probably get ourselves well sprinkled with the smell of hot dogs and stables; take in a couple of the most sparkling mid-way shows; maybe stand for a tin-type; steer shy of the slickers who are there to make an easy living; see the tallest stalk of corn and the largest pumpkin; listen with ears and mouth wide open to the smartest barker; in fact, we will take in the fair.

They say the fair at Bath is "gigantis" "colossal", "mammoth" "stupendous", in truth, the fair of all fairs. Well, we will see what we will see.

A good Samaritan is a perfect example of a good neighbor.

Germans are said to complain at their leaders because no preparation was ever made to protect Berlin citizens from air raids. Hitler had bragged the British would not be able to send bombers to Berlin and did not build air raid shelters. Now he is trying to hide his mistake behind the increased tempo of attack on London.

British submarines are sinking many Italian vessels in the Mediterranean. They lay in wait for supply ships going to African ports thus cutting off vital munitions needed by Mussolini's troops for the Egyptian campaign which seems to have bogged down.

Politics —

Republican candidates led the voting by about 65 per cent in the Maine State elections Tuesday. This is the margin G. O. P. strategists have hoped as a barometer of the national results in November. Some forecasters of election results maintain that Maine no longer gives an accurate forecast of what the outcome will be over the ination, yet both political camps take comfort from it when the Maine vote shows opinion swinging their way.

Wendell Willkie will start this week on the first long swing of his campaign. He will make a short swing through Illinois and then head for a major address at Coffeeville, Kansas. The tour will cover most of the states west of the Mississippi.

President Roosevelt insists that he will make no campaign talks, yet Republicans claim all his so-called defense speeches have been political. The question is a big headache to the broadcasting chains who feel obliged to grant as much free time to Republicans as Roosevelt gets without cost.

Japan has declared her intention of going ahead with plans to invade China through French Indo-China in spite of American protests and embargo of oil and scrap metals. Sec. Hull issued a grave warning to the Japs not to march through the colony of France.

The stock market dipped from fractions to two points the first of the week as traders regarded as bearish the news of increased air assaults on London. Following the big slump at the time of the defeat of France stocks have shown slight gains for six weeks although prices of sound issues are still regarded extremely low.

Work started yesterday on the new Chemung County jail. Contracts were awarded last Saturday providing for completion of the building in 250 days. The Cunningham Construction Company received the general building contract at a price of $84,363. The total cost of the jail will be $187,806, about $38,000 less than the amount authorized by the Board of Supervisors.

Death took the last railroad pioneer of the country last week when Leonor F. Loree former president of the D. L. & W. died at his West Orange, N. J. home. Railroad men considered Loree one of the last of the old school of executives who came up from the ranks during the big expansion period of continental road building.

Vice Presidential candidate Wallace in a speech this week has somewhat retracted his affirmation that Willkie is an "appeaser" of Hitler. Wallace claims, however that Republicans are generally in favor of the appeasement and have obstructed defense measures.

The U. S. Navy has ordered 200 warships for the new re-armament program. Included in the list are battleships as large as any now under construction and larger than the largest fighting craft afloat. These will include five 45,000 ton fighters and two 53,000 ton sea fortresses, the largest in the world.

Any American Nation May Use U. S. Bases

As an added step toward the common defense of the Western Hemisphere, the projected naval and air bases of British possessions along the Atlantic will be shared in common with all nations of the Americas, according to a statement by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

American diplomatic authorities have been instructed by the State Department to notify the southern republics that the United States will make available to them all the facilities of these new bases.

The United States by turning over 50 destroyers to the British acquired the right to establish air and naval outposts at Newfoundland on the north, and at Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad, Antigua and British Guiana.

The rumor floating about Washington that this government would turn over three destroyers to Uruguay was refused confirmation or denial at the State Department.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF ADDISON,
Plaintiff,
—against—
BURTON B. WELLS,
Defendant.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly granted in the above entitled action and entered in Steuben County Clerk's Office on the 31st day of July, 1940, I, Hugh A. Varn, the undersigned Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the law office of Charles M. Salerno on Main Street in the Village of Addison, New York, on the 17th day of September, 1940, at 10 o'clock A. M., Standard Time, the premises described in said judgment as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Addison, now Tuscarora, in the County of Steuben, and State of New York, known and distinguished as the south 50 acres of the east 100 acres of lot No. 106 in township No. 1 in the 3rd range of townships in the County of Steuben, aforesaid, and bounded as follows: on the south and east by the respective south and east lines of said lot; on the west by the west boundary of said east 100 acres; and on the north by a line parallel with the south line aforesaid, and so far north therefrom as to divide the said east 100 acres into two equal parts of 50 acres each, reference being had to the plan in the margin of deed, dated May 1st, 1848, between Masterton Ure and John Gordon, by attorney, to Thomas P. Wells.

Also, All That Certain Piece or Parcel of Land situate in the Town of Tuscarora, in the County of Steuben, and State of New York, known and distinguished as subdivision No. 3 or the southwest subdivision of lot No. 106 in township No. 1, in the 3rd range of townships, and described as follows: Beginning at the southwest corner of the great lot, thence along the south line thereof, south 87 degrees east, 15 chains and 65 links to a stake; thence north 87 degrees west 15 chains and 65 links to the west line of the great lot; thence along said line south 3 degrees west 20 chains and 50 links to the place of beginning, containing 30 acres and 97 hundredths of an acre as surveyed by C. A. Canfield, be the same more or less.

FINENESS —

Nnvariably this thing called fineness expresses itself in attitude toward one's work (none of that this-is-a-racket complex— inconceivable in a great success!); often, and naturally, the fineness overflows from everyday habits of mind: kindness and generosity toward others or high private ambitions.

in a corn crib for nearly a year. The animal, weighing only fifty pounds, was found alive in the crib by a boy hunting pigeons. Its only moisture came from rain or snow leaking into the crib. Piggy had been covered when the crib was filled and sealed last year.

SIX SIGNS OF SELF-PITY —

If people are always picking on you—
If your wife or husband doesn't appreciate you—
If you frequently nurse a grudge—
If things always seem to go wrong for you—
If all your fellow employes are treated better than you are—
If your boss or your neighbor or your teacher "has it in" for you—
—you are just wallowing in self-pity and are wasting priceless time which might better be devoted to the job of being happy.

MOTH
Lift Up THINE Eyes

IN the five generations since 1740, we Americans have performed the heroic task of clearing, populating, farming, industrializing and civilizing a country larger than England, France, Germany, Spain and Italy put together.

Because we have looked always forward and upward, and have worked hard, we have achieved the highest standard of living in the world.

One of the most potent of all the forces that have created this living standard is advertising, which inspires us to want always the new and better things and ways of life.

Of late years it has been the fashion among our radical reformers to attack advertising as an economic waste.

How silly, in view of the magnificent service it has rendered us! Let's encourage it and use it for an ever brighter future.

TO THE
REPUBLICAN VOTERS

E. RAY HARDENBROOK

MAY I ASK

Before you vote for a Commissioner of Public Welfare for Steuben County at the Primary Election Tuesday, September 17, that you consider the responsibilities connected with the administration of the many different types of relief as required by the present State and Federal laws, the complicated laws and regulations governing each form of assistance and the fact that your present administration has the second lowest administrative cost in the state.

When considering various arguments against my administration kindly remember that your County Welfare Department has been conducted on an impartial, non-political basis only, and that this policy has at times been resented by a small faction.

I am seeking re-election not on promises of what I hope I can do, but rather on past record.

I have administered the County Welfare activities in exact accordance with State and Federal laws as enacted and amended by the legislators. I believe you will agree that this responsible job requires experience in this particular type of work.

Your support will be appreciated.

over by the county. In most cases the property owners have been granted concessions and have not cooperated with the village authorities.

New waterproof mattresses and waterproof mattress covers will be purchased from the State Department of Correction for the jail. This is to offset and overcome criticism of the jail made by the State Department. The Town Board will be asked to pay half. New plywood bunks were installed but did not meet the inspector's approval.

Village fathers feel that the town should take over the jail for the village maintains it, bears the grief of state criticism and receives no revenue, all the income going to the town.

It was also agreed that no lodgers are to be kept in the jail at any time.

Bills Audited

Bills audited and ordered paid were: New York State Gas & Electric Co., $294.97; Mrs. Mary Hibbard, cleaning jail, $2.50; A. L. Blades & Son, mixed asphalt, $61.88; American La France Fire Equipment Co., six rubber coats, $37.32; E. O. Fritz, gas, oil for June, July and August, $21.55; The Dennis Co., assessment roll, $7.65; Chatfield Garage, fire truck inspection and repairs, May, June July, $6.75; L. E. Handy, mop for village hall, 40c; Clerk W. M. Miller, phone calls and postage, $1.26.

Mayor Sisto stated that hereafter all bills must be presented within 30 days or they will not be approved and will be held up for payment. Trustees agreed this is sound business practice and should be followed in all cases.

Those present were Mayor Angelo Sisto and Trustees Hubert Orr, Norman Phelps, Sr., and William Cooper.

ANOTHER "WINDY" ROLE FOR TRACY

Spencer Tracy cannot escape becoming the screen's leading dramatic "speech maker" before the end of 1940. For the fourth picture in a row, he makes an intense speech of over five minutes in "Boom Town" coming soon to Corning's Schine Fox. He made other powerful speeches in "Stanley and Livingstone", Northwest Passage" and "Edison, the Man".

Andover—Over 200 milk producers attended a Dairy Farmers Union meeting here last week but none signed the DFU agreements. American Legion members were active in ousting the Union.

The dance in the evening was well attended.

Funeral Services Held For Wirt D. Young

Funeral services for Wirt D. Young were held from his late home on Addison Hill at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. John V. Axtell, minister of Addison Presbyterian Church officiated and burial was made in Wood's Corners Cemetery.

The death of Mr. Young occurred Sunday, September 8, 1940 after an illness that dated back to December 31, 1939. On that date, while working in the woods, Mr. Young was struck by a falling tree and suffered a broken leg. Although in time the bones knit, complications developed from time to time that confined him to his bed continually since the accident occurred and death came as a release from his suffering.

Born June 6, 1871 in the Town of Tuscarora, Wirt Young was the son of Edward and Vestaline Dinnny Young. A hard working and ambitious man, Mr. Young had the respect of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

His survivers are one sister, Mrs. Bessie Sprague of Addison Hill one brother, Harry Young of Elmira and several nephews and nieces including Glenn L. Sprague former music supervisor at Addison High School and Edward Sprague a student at Fredonia Normal School.

Candidate For County Commissioner

This is in answer to leaflets recently mailed to Steuben County voters by E. Ray Hardenbrook, present Commissioner, entitled, "What a Man is Worth".

In this article he states that there has been a great deal of laxity among many public officials and that the only opposition to him will come from a few disgruntled politicians because political pap does not flow from the county office. Listed below are Steuben County's officials holding elective public office and I ask—what is wrong with them?

George King, District Attorney
George Pratt, Surrogate
Reuben Oldfield, County Clerk
Ben. Balcom, Sheriff
Hon. Edwin S. Brown, Children's Court Judge
Clara L. Smith, County Treasurer

Which of you is Mr. Hardenbrook so boldly presuming to condemn or dishonor? Are you as Steuben's leading office holders going to take this slap in the face after fulfilling with integrity the office entrusted to you by Steuben's taxpayers? Are you going to support a man who is trying to discredit the belief of the people in you?

Assemblywoman Cheney Is Civic Socsiety Speaker

The closing days of the session are for the third reading of the bill and bringing the bill from the powerful Rules Committee. There were 800 bills introduced at the last session. It is in the Rules Committee that the politics takes place."

Mrs. Cheney then told of the ramifications of many bills and angles which must be considered before final passage. She continued, Life for a woman in the legislature is not so bad. In fact the men make it so agreeable that I feel I want to go back for more. Women can do much for women, for many bills concern women. Many bills discriminate against women.

"I'm not advocating women rushing into politics . I say the nicest place for a woman is in the home. There is ample opportunity today for women to teach citizenship, responsibility, to develop character in the home.

"We in America take too much for granted. People who went through a great deal to give us our liberty and freedom and when we take things for granted we often lose privileges.

"There are many 'isms' to fight now. Many come here from foreign lands and retain their loyalties to their home lands. Many of us are afraid to wave the flag.

"Do your duty as a citizen. Register, vote and exercise your privileges or do not complain. She then paid tribute to the society and its objectives .

The meeting opened with the salute to the Flag led by Margaret Gladstone for the Girl Scouts and William Murray for the Boy Scouts. Miss Darrin presented Mrs. Ray S. Brown, who in turn presented Mrs. Auringer, who introduced the speaker.

A "Dictator" Rules Team of Chicks

A Massachusetts youth became interested in freak chickens. He took two fertile hens eggs, made a small hole through the pointed end of each and grafted both firmly together with beeswax. The eggs matched. Two chickens were produced, joined at their tails with a strong web of cartilage. The youth promptly christened "it" Mussolini and Hitler. Hitler, the more energetic of the two, spends most of the time pulling Mussolini around. When Hitler's legs start walking forward, his ally starts walking backward.
